In olden days “cooking oil” to the average American meant vegetable oil or maybe, like my grandmother, a clump of lard. If you wanted to get fancy, you had some olive oil of undefined quality for making salad dressing. Fast forward to the 2000’s and suddenly the variety available is somewhere between intimidating and mystifying, and that’s not even considering the cooking-oils at specialty grocers. There are lots of options. They all have different characteristics and can be used to enrich your cooking and dishes in a myriad of ways. Here are but a few offered by Cheney Brothers from Roland Foods.

10121808 Don Juan Manchego aged 4 months 2/7# ROP

Don Juan Manchego DOP is produced exclusively with high quality milk from the Manchega breed of sheep. By combining old world techniques with a state of the art facility and equipment, this 4-month Manchego has great character. This cheese has a floral aroma with a gentle, nutty flavor, making Don Juan Manchego the mildest version of this Spanish classic. The 4-Month Manchego is made in strict adherence to the traditional process, and is certified PDO (Protected Designation of Origin). Using no preservatives on the rind, this all-natural cheese is hand molded with herringbone prints, to mimic the traditional look when cheese curds were pressed with a straw cheese belt.
